

GRAND VIEW SECTION REPRESENTED AT MEETING

Cemetery Ordinance Is With- drawn—Petitions Will Be Circulated

City trustees were not allowed to be lonesome last night, for a big delegation of citizens from the Grand View district were on hand, prepared to protest, if necessary, against the approval by the board of the plat of a Grand View tract which proposed to place upon the market small, cheap lots, which it was felt would damage the district. The board refused to approve it and there was great rejoicing which was so prolonged that the trustees took a recess for a few minutes.

Arden Avenue Bids

Bids for improvement work on Arden avenue were opened and referred to the city manager for checking and report.

Lot Cleaning

Protests relative to lot cleaning under resolutions 1115, 1118, 1119 and 1120, not having been filed, the hearing was continued for six weeks.

Cemetery Ordinance

President Stephenson, at the request of the Forest Lawn Memorial Park association, withdrew the ordinance recently introduced by him regulating interments in cemeteries.

Broadway-Central Opening

Recommendations of the city manager relative to proposed change in the course of Broadway at Central avenue, as set forth elsewhere in this issue, were adopted.

Tag Day

The application of the Children's Home Finding society to make June 4 "Tag day," was granted.

Library Resolution

A resolution adopted by the Federation of Parent-Teacher associations, asking the city trustees for increased financial support of the city library, was ordered filed without action, because the library board had already presented its budget and had been granted all the appropriation asked for.

New Fire Engine

Letters endorsing the recommendation of City Manager Watson relative to the purchase of a new fire engine to replace the Knott fire engine at station No. 2, written by W. M. Whelan, W. E. Roake, E. C. Fairfield and others, were read by Clerk Sherer. On behalf of himself and Trustee Robinson, appointed to investigate the matter, Trustee Lapham reported that after visiting stations in Los Angeles and outlying cities and consulting ex-

OBITUARY NOTICES

Warren Vinacke

Warren Vinacke, a member of the Glendale Company of National Guards and popular with the men, who has been confined to his bed by illness since May 8, died at the home of his parents at 235 Douglas street, Eagle Rock, Thursday night at 11 o'clock. He was born in Buena Vista, Colorado, and had lived until June 30 would have been 18 years old. He had been a resident of California since September. Besides his father and mother he is survived by a sister, Mrs. John Bradford.

It is expected that funeral obsequies will take place Monday at the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial park. It will be a military funeral attended by all the members of the Glendale Company of the California National Guard, and members of that organization will be pall bearers. Rev. Gilliland, pastor of the Methodist church of Eagle Rock will officiate.

Mary Hoye McGinnis

Mary Hoye McGinnis passed away at her home, 312 East Acacia, May 20, at the age of 72 years. She is survived by two sons, J. J. McGinnis of 122 South Orange street, Glendale, and Dave Hartford (McGinnis) of Detroit, Mich., prominent in the theatrical world.

Funeral services will be held Monday in the Holy Family Catholic Church, the hour to be announced later. The remains will then be shipped to Detroit, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Hartford, the Jewel City Undertaking Company being in charge.

PETITIONS WILL BE CIRCULATED FOR IMPROVEMENT OF STREETS

One of the matters of outstanding interest considered at last night's meeting of city trustees was the estimated cost of the proposed Broadway-Central avenue opening by which the present jog in the street would be converted into a curve. The report of the city manager was as follows:

Pursuant to our request the chamber of commerce appointed a committee of two to serve with the city engineer appraising the property that would be taken for these two proposed improvements. Their report is as follows:

Estimated cost of land to be taken for Broadway cutoff west of Central avenue:

|-------|------------|
| Lot 2 | $4,000.00 |
| Lot 3 | 6,300.00 |
| Lot 4 | 5,050.00 |
| Lot 5 | 1,700.00 |
| Lot 6 | 600.00 |
| Lot 7 | 2,100.00 |
| Lot 8 | 1,800.00 |
| Lot 9 | 150.00 |

$21,700.00

Estimated cost of proposed park site at the southwest corner of Central avenue and Broadway:

|-------|------------|
| Lot 4 | $2,250.00 |
| Lot 5 | 3,800.00 |
| Lot 6 | 5,400.00 |

$11,450.00

J. S. Thompson, a Broadway resident and former member of the board of trustees addressed the board to say that he had taken pains to interview many residents of that part of the city and had found them a unit in favoring this improvement and also the purchase of the surplus triangle of land to be converted into a little park and they were anxious the trustees should no longer delay the matter but proceed to form an assessment district: that they also desired to have the western end of Broadway improved to San Fernando road, but under a separate proceeding. Mr. Lapham confirmed Mr. Thompson's statements relative to the willingness of the people to pay the assessments.

Mr. Offutt, applicant for the oil station at that point, was present and stated that the property values of the chamber of commerce were too low; that Lot 6 which he owned had been estimated at $5400, whereas he had paid $6500 for it. To make assurance doubly sure and to save the time that would be consumed in setting hearings for protests, the board voted to adopt the suggestion of City Manager Watson and circulate petitions throughout the proposed assessment district to be presented to the board two weeks hence, the estimates to be sufficiently high to prevent any misunderstanding or misrepresentation on the part of those who would be assessed.

RETURNS TO HOME IN NEW YORK CITY

Mrs. Martin Turner, who, for the past four weeks, has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Mary B. O'Connell, and her sister, Mrs. C. E. Norton, 324 North Maryland avenue, has returned to her home in New York City.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. O'Connell during her daughter's visit Glendale friends of these ladies, who had looked forward to hearing Mrs. Turner sing, were disappointed in not having an opportunity of enjoying her beautiful lyric soprano. Mrs. Turner has studied with the best teachers in the East, where her voice has been heard in both concert and operatic work. Her husband, Martin Turner, is closely associated with William G. Brady, the great theatrical magnate of New York City.

Mrs. O'Connell is now convalescent and Mrs. Turner was compelled to return to her Eastern home, but is looking forward to another California visit.

BIG APARTMENT AND STORE BUILDING

The contractors Williams & Jones have announced an intention to take out a building permit in a few days for a client, H. H. Parker for a large apartment house and series of store buildings Nos. 401 to 407 at the corner of Columbus and Doran streets, they indicated that it would be a 26-room apartment building.

A. LINCOLN HART ADDRESSES CITY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

S. L. Roland, Manager of New Business Concern in Glendale, Talks on Advantages of Concerted Effort by Organization—Other Matters Considered

"Possibilities of mass propaganda of the most subtle kind may be promulgated by means of the motion picture," asserted A. Lincoln Hart, motion picture producer and founder of the Ethical Motion Picture Society, in his speech at the chamber of commerce forum dinner last evening.

"The subtlety of the appeal of the picture on the silver screen is remarkable," continued the speaker; "people go to the picture theaters for recreation, for solace, to forget the cares of the world for a while. In the subdued light in the quiet place, with the organ music supplementing the thought portrayed by the picture, each soul is alone; what greater opportunity is there to influence his mind and his heart for good or for evil?"

As a medium of education, of disseminating news, of carrying a message to the people of the country, the motion picture may accomplish good incalculable, Mr. Hart said. In one month, one hundred million people in the United States may receive such news or such a message.

Because of its unlimited possibilities the development of this industry must not be hindered and impeded by censors; such a potent influence for good must not be diverted from its proper channels of usefulness by those who cater to perverted tastes merely for the sake of the dollar.

On the contrary, averred the speaker, the reform of motion pictures must come from within, and already this change has begun; the Ethical Motion Picture Society is the crystallization of the desire for pictures of the better sort; pictures with salacious situation or morbid suggestion; pictures produced by men of ideals in place of those who lack discernment and are in the business purely for the money.

The motion picture industry has experienced the most wonderful scientific development of any of the industries that have come into being in recent years. Its first ten years were its experimental state; its development as an industry has come in the last ten years; new discoveries in electricity, wonderful scientific developments in the printing of films, marvelous systems of distribution and sale are some of the features of its growth that have made this the fourth industry of the United States and given employment to 20,000 people in Los Angeles alone, among whom are carpenters, cabinet makers, painters, engineers, electricians, interior decorators, as well as writers, musicians, actors, bookkeepers, accountants and salesmen.

This great physical growth is now to be followed by a spiritual development. There is a sentiment in the industry, as well as outside among the people at large, for pictures with a purpose; pictures that do not merely entertain, but that awaken thought and lift the hearts men to higher things.

It is not the purpose of the Ethical Motion Picture Society to censor pictures; their committee of 100 previews pictures with a purpose and gives them its mark of approval if they are worthy. Patrons of the 18,000 motion picture theaters in the United States who appreciate the value of good pictures will learn to look for this stamp of approval in the picture ads, and will give these pictures their support.

The society, organized but a few months ago, has been enthusiastically received. Pasadena is ready to organize a chapter. Prominent men all over the country, David Starr Jordan among them, have endorsed the movement.

Acting on the suggestion of L. T. Rowley, whom C. C. Cooper, president of the chamber, has appointed chairman of the program, that the chamber of commerce go on record as favoring this movement, a large majority gave the cause a rising vote of endorsement.

Preceding the program, Secretary Rhoades gave a detailed report of the business of the chamber since its inception, which showed its affairs in splendid condition.

E. F. Sanders gave a talk on the benefits of a chamber of commerce. He cited in detail the development of Oklahoma City, Chicago and New Orleans, due to active, enthusiastic, united effort of their chambers of commerce. The chamber of commerce of a city, he said, is the lungs through which the city breathes. He also called it a democracy, the only organization in any city where all its citizens can meet on common ground.

Mr. Sanders suggested as a motto for Glendale, "Glendale for all, and all for Glendale."

S. L. Roland of the Southern California Building and Loan Association, a new member, gave a brief talk on the advantages of such an association.

NEW BUILDINGS ON GLENDAL AVENUE

Spencer Robinson's Office Is Nearly Ready—Sanford
Smith's Going Up Fast

The wave of business and residential expansion all over Glendale is sending buildings up like mushrooms. The Spencer Robinson office for example at 111 North Glendale avenue just north of the White Inn is nearly ready for occupancy. Mr. Robinson expects to take possession with his desks and real estate maps and with the equipment of the Glendale Post Office branch next week. Its dimensions are about those of the office he has been occupying in the building belonging to the branch of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank. The business of that institution has developed to such an extent that more room became absolutely necessary so they requested Mr. Robinson to vacate. When he gets out the partition will be removed and the entire space will be thrown into the banking room which will be redecorated and improved to make it a fit sister to the handsome quarters of the other branch on Brand Boulevard.

As to Mr. Robinson he has not said whether or not he will have an "opening" on taking possession of his new office. He owns a frontage of 40 feet which runs clear through to Howard street and plans some time to put a fine permanent building on the lot. He is a very loyal, enthusiastic citizen and the bulletin board beside his office door bears this inscription: "Register today. Buy a lot tomorrow."

GLENDAL GUARDS MAKE FINE SHOWING

Men Now Drilling Tuesday and Thursday Evenings
to Attain Perfection

Seventy-five members of the Glendale Company, California National Guard, under Captain Watson, motored to Pasadena, Thursday evening, and marched in parade from the Elks' Club on Colorado to the headquarters of the American Legion on Broadway. A uniformed band furnished music. The men made a fine showing and were applauded all along the way by the citizens who lined the sidewalks. On the strength of this demonstration a recruiting office will be opened in Pasadena, tomorrow, Saturday. About 30 men have already enrolled and prospects are bright for a strong organization there.

That they may be in good shape to participate in the Decoration Day parade, members of the Glendale Company are drilling Tuesday as well as Thursday nights. The new uniforms and equipment and the fine progress they are making have filled members with enthusiasm and they drill most cheerfully.

Rainfall .27 Inch

The rain gauge of T. W. Preston up to 12 o'clock had recorded .27 of an inch for the present storm, which brought the total for the season to an even 14 inches. The total last year at this time was 17.27 inches.

About the same distance in the other direction or at 118 South Glendale avenue, Sanford L. Smith, the contractor, is erecting a small brick office on the rear of the lot, in the expectation of placing a full sized building on the front of the lot some time in the future.

RAILROAD COMPANY COMPLAINT FILED IN MAY EXTEND LINE TO TUJUNGA AND SUNLAND

Officers of the Glendale-Montrose railroad company visited Sunland and Tujunga Monday night to meet with the local board of trade and discuss the possible extension of the line to those points. No definite action was taken, but the matter will be considered and other conferences will probably take place. It is said that the people of the district have found the bus line unsatisfactory and desire improved transportation facilities. John S. McGroarty, who is one of the influential citizens of Tujunga, is boosting for better transportation and if the people and the railroad company can reach an agreement, the suggested extension may be made. On account of steep grades there will be difficulties about a right of way that will suit all concerned.

Palace Grand

In "The White Moll," playing today at the Palace Grand, Pearl White surpasses anything she has previously done on the screen. She furnishes an abundance of thrills in a role which is intensely dramatic, framed in a story which grips the heart from start to finish.

"The White Moll" is from the pen of Frank L. Packard, author of the celebrated play, "The Miracle Man." In it, Miss White has many opportunities to utilize all the extraordinary magnetism which has made her the best known screen actress in the world. She possesses a most attractive presence and in her strongly emotional scenes is superb.

The story is laid in New York's underworld, and Pearl White has the role of a young settlement worker who, once a crook herself, aids the unfortunate and seeks to reform men and women who murder and rob for a livelihood.

Roscoe Arbuckle in a brand new edition of one of his very best two-reelers, "His Wedding Night," furnishes the comedy for this program.

Glendale Theater

Automobiles have taken the place of the horse in many respects and in many fields of activity, but not in the emotional affections of human kind. This was shown conclusively last night at the Glendale theater when "Black Beauty" appeared on the motion picture screen.

Here and there in the big audience were heard little exclamations of delight as the first scenes of the story of the most famous horse in the world of literature were presented, following a tense and expectant silence as the opening title, "The first place that I can well remember was a large, pleasant meadow—" appeared on the screen.

PREPARATORY SERVICE HELD THIS EVENING

A preparatory service will be held at the First Presbyterian church, this evening, at 7:30.

The service is in preparation for communion on next Sunday. Dr. W. E. McCulloch, of the First United Presbyterian church, Los Angeles, will speak on "Achievements for the Future." Dr. McCulloch is said to be a forceful speaker; this is his first appearance in Glendale.

At the close of the service, the Session will meet any who desire to unite with the church on Sunday.

Glendale Music Club

The regular meeting of the Glendale Music Club will be held tonight at the high school, when the election of officers for the coming year will take place.

Status of School Bond Voters

Relative to the right of residents of the Grand View district to vote for the proposed bond issue to relieve congestion in the city schools, Attorney Shaw submitted an opinion to the Board of City Trustees last night to the effect that such portions of the Glendale city school district as are outside the municipal boundaries of the city will be automatically detached therefrom when the recently adopted city charter becomes effective, but that all voters within the present municipality of Glendale will have a legal right to vote at such bond election.

Hearing in Case Growing Out of Death of Miss Lindsey Set for Tuesday

Chief of Police Lampert reported to city trustees last night that complaint had been filed in the criminal action brought by the city against the Pacific Electric railroad for the death of Miss Eugenia Lindsey at Los Feliz and Brand boulevard when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by a Burbank car, and that the preliminary hearing had been set for next Tuesday.

Of interest in that connection was the report of City Attorney Shaw relative to statements made in a petition presented to the board by Mrs. A. L. Banero that a franchise had been granted the Pacific Electric through the municipality then known as Tropic with the conditions that all trains stop at the crossing now known as Los Feliz road, and petitioning the city to enforce the provision.

The city attorney's report said in effect that at the time the Pacific Electric railroad was built through what was formerly known as Tropic it was not an incorporated city, hence the company could acquire a right to cross streets under Section 465 of the Civil Code which provides that any railroad corporation may construct its road across streets and highways except within a municipal corporation in which case it must have the authority of the city. He referred to a deed given the Pacific Electric by L. C. Brand and wife in 1906, containing an agreement that all local trains should stop at Cypress and Los Feliz road, and stated that such provision was merely a personal agreement, that neither the city of Glendale nor any other party had power to enforce; that it referred to local passenger trains and would not apply to Burbank cars. He added that the supreme court has held that such a stipulation is subject to the ruling of the state railroad commission. The effect of the deed made to the company by W. C. Richardson, in 1902 he said would be the same.

It therefore appears that City Attorney Shaw does not consider that the city has authority to compel the Pacific Electric company to stop all trains at Los Feliz road.

ANNUAL PATRONS' NIGHT AT SCHOOL

Opens With Flag Salute and Closes by Singing "Star-Spangled Banner"

Pupils of the Intermediate school, in best dress and with lessons carefully conned, received the general public at the school last evening from 7 to 8:45 o'clock.

This was the school's annual "patrons' night," and the lessons of the morning session were transferred to the evening, that the public might witness the regular school work.

At the assembly held in the auditorium, letters and stars were awarded girls and boys who had won them in basketball and track events. Jack Finch, president of athletics, conducted the assembly, which opened with the flag salute, led by Superintendent R. D. White, and closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Work in every study and activity in the school was demonstrated and the prompt recitations of the 518 boys and girls inspired the pride and enthusiasm of the great number of guests who had come to hear them.

The greatest number of parents and patrons ever assembled at this annual affair was gathered together there last evening.

The school itself, as well as the pupils and teachers, was in gala attire, bouquets of flowers were artistically arranged on all the windowsills.

He expressed the opinion that the matter had not been fully understood or considered by voters and suggested that petitions be circulated and if signed by 15 per cent of the voters that it be placed on the ballot at the coming municipal election. The board voted to adopt the suggestion and the petitions will at once be prepared by Mr. Watson.

NEW POLICY IN GARBAGE DISPOSAL

Ordinance Prepared by City
Attorney Shaw Contains Recommendations

Under instructions of the board of trustees, City Attorney Shaw has prepared a garbage disposal ordinance in which are embodied the recommendations of City Manager Watson, contained in a communication supplemental to his recommendations of May 5. In this last recommendation, he says, concerning the gathering of garbage and waste matter:

"In this connection we find that the cities of Santa Barbara, Redlands, Riverside and Long Beach all make a regular charge for this service. The only figure we have as to the charge is from Redlands, the charge there being 50 cents a month, and this is the amount formerly charged by the city of Glendale for this service.

"We estimate that a charge of 33 1-3 cents per month if paid by all who are now receiving this service, would cover the cost of gathering garbage and waste matter, and that a charge of 25 cents a month for gathering the contents of a container of 25-gallon capacity, and a charge of 50 cents a month for gathering the contents of a container of 50-gallon capacity, would cover the cost of gathering waste papers and rubbish in the business district.

"We would therefore respectfully recommend that charges for gathering garbage, waste matter and rubbish be made and collected as above stated, those charges to be payable quarterly in advance, commencing July 1, 1921."

BIRTHDAY DINNER

P. Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hayward and the hostess.

JURIST IN IRELAND TRIED BY BRITISH

Founder of Mothers' Pensions Haled Before Court for Being "Irish Friend"

(By International News Service) NEW YORK, May 20.—Judge Henry Neill, widely known as the "father" of mothers' pension laws, today told for the first time, when he called to pay his respects to Lawrence Neill, lord mayor of Dublin, how he, an American citizen, was arrested by Scotland Yard in London, charged with "being a friend of Ireland," and given a rump trial behind iron bars.

The arrest, Judge Neill explained, grew out of his speech at the Dublin mansion house, at which Lord Mayor Neill presided, and in which Judge Neill remarked that he felt like he had come home, because his mother had been born in Ireland.

"I was lunching shortly after that with Lord Blythe in London," said Judge Neill. "Two Scotland Yard detectives summoned me. I was escorted peremptorily to an iron-barred room in Scotland Yard. Lights were dimmed. Stenographers sat ready to transcribe testimony. A judge-like officer said: 'You are charged with being a friend of Ireland.'"

"I was not frightened, if that was the aim of the officers. I remarked: 'I plead guilty to the charge.' It evidently had been their intention to put me on the defensive. They asked me where I had been. I told them I had just returned from an inspection of the British fleet—had been entertained by a whole flock of admirals aboard His Majesty's superdreadnaught, the Hood.

"After more questioning as to where I had been and what my activities were, I was released. Later, Lord Lytton, on behalf of the government, expressed regret to me for the annoyance that had been caused."

"Well," interposed the lord mayor of Dublin, "the English were very jumpy at that time—it was during the war—and they were scared of their own shadow."

Lord Mayor Neill expressed to Judge Neill his anxiety to get back to Dublin where he could be of more direct service to "his people" during the present "time of anxiety" as he phrased it.

"The American people, I find, are well informed of the conditions in Ireland," said the lord mayor.

He lamented, however, the disabilities being interposed by the English authorities against mail and cable communication between the people in Ireland and residents here.

Lord Mayor Neill made it plain he did not hate the English.

"I do not believe the Irish people generally hate the English," he said. "It is the British system of government to which they object. Personally, I have had considerable dealings with the English, and, on the whole, I rather like them."

Judge Neill, in reviewing his three years' residence in the British Isles, expressed the belief that the British Empire would disintegrate when the Irish, Egyptians and Indians have succeeded in casting off the British yoke of imperialism. The lord mayor of Dublin, however, made it quite clear he wished to express no opinion in that regard.

Quiet, unassuming and gentle-voiced, the lord mayor became very earnest when asked what reaction had been produced in Ireland by the hunger-strike and death in Brixton prison of Terence McSwiney, lord mayor of Cork.

"In Ireland there are young men dying every week in the same cause for which McSwiney gave his life," he said.

World's Fattest Woman Dies

(By International News Service) TEWKSBURY, Mass., May 20.—Flavia Oulette, once the fattest woman in the world, died at her home here. When she was 50 years old she weighed 680 pounds, but has lost some weight in recent years. Mrs. Oulette was born in Quebec. She was one of 18 children.

TONG WAR CLAIMS ANOTHER VICTIM

Arrest Nine Chinamen After Four-Hour Gun Battle Late Yesterday

(By International News Service) SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—Chinatown was in terror today, following the shooting of Lum Bing, 60, Suey Ong Tong member, as he sat beside street, grave fears were expressed that the whole tong warfare would be revived, despite the fact a peace treaty was signed yesterday. Leon Fook and Lem Dock, arrested as they fled from the house where Lum Bing lay dying with six bullets in his body, were formally charged with murder today.

Police investigating learned that although the two men were members of the Suey Sing tong, they were acting as agents of the Jung Ying tong when they killed Lum Bing, hoping to gain a reward of $1000.

However, police believed, the arrest of nine Chinamen in Lockport late yesterday, after a four-hour gun battle, seven of whom will face charges of murder, will have a salutary effect in curbing the tong gunnery. These men are to be brought here today.

DALTON JURY FAILS TO FIND VERDICT

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 20.—The jury in the trial of William Dalton, 16-year-old clerk in the Northern Trust company, from which he confessed having stolen $772,000 in bonds, has disagreed and been discharged. Another jury is now in the process of formation. It is not known how the vote stood but it is believed the fight was nearly even in behalf of the freedom of the boy. The jury was out one day and one night.

The boy, Dalton, in his defense, said that thoughts of bonds so obsessed his mind that he could not sleep or work, and that he finally, as a result of this obsession, lost all his sense of right and wrong.

The boy was captured a few days after the robbery by two citizens in Aurora, Ill. The bonds were found in a grip which he had left unguarded and unlocked on the floor of a pool-room in Auburn.

The theft was the largest bond robbery in the history of Chicago.

PRESIDENT MILLERAND NOT FOND OF SPORTS

(By International News Service)

PARIS, May 20.—Sporting events seem to have very little interest for President Millerand. At a recent horse race meeting a race bore the title "Prix du President de la Republique," but M. Millerand was not there. Later, a delegation from the Automobile Club of France called upon M. Millerand to ask him to preside at the race to be decided in July and known as the Grand Prix de l'Automobile Club. It is an international event in which American drivers will compete. M. Millerand expressed his regret, but said he had other engagements set for that time.

WE APOLOGIZE

We don't like to go back to our little old childhood dress—a six-column paper—but fate compels. An accident to the big press caused several hours' delay yesterday, and today we are using the small press, as of old, and printing an eight-page paper. Tomorrow we hope to be in shape to issue the regular-size paper. Bear with us, friends, as you have so kindly done in the past. We'll come out on top soon.

PERPETUAL FIRE

There arrived in New York one day last week a slight, delicate French woman—the discoverer of radium. Science has not given mankind so rare a treat in many decades as the discovery of this new and wonderful substance. Nor have scientists in decades found anything quite so puzzling, so bewildering.

"Radium," says Edwin E. Slosson, "comes as nearly as possible to the perpetual fire sought by the alchemists." It always manages to be a little hotter than its surroundings, even though put into a blast furnace. Without haste and without rest it radiates at an even rate. The fact that there are only a few grams of radium in the world makes its existence all the more interesting.

Man's knowledge today of radium is as limited, no doubt, as a child's knowledge of higher mathematics. A century hence scientists will probably pay tribute to Madame Curie for her wonderful discovery, but beyond that little compliment will be given our present knowledge of the fiery substance. But, with all our limitation, we are making vital use of the burning metal as a curative for disease.

The Hartford Times describes, as follows, the use of radium and its frightful power:

"The power of radium as a healing agent through its ability to destroy diseased tissue has become commonly understood. It is also generally known, in a more or less vague sort of way, that radium experimenters, like those who experiment with the X-ray, sometimes suffer burns and injuries which cause their death.

"Radium has, indeed, a force which is as terrible as it is wonderful. It can be carried from place to place when encased in a receptacle having leaden walls several inches thick. Even then the carrier will do well to swing the receptacle as he walks, lest holding it in a still position should permit the powerful rays to find their way through the lead and into his body. When radium rays are applied, the radium is placed in a specially prepared room with a slit in the wall whereby the rays are made to fall only upon the precise spot desired. The handler of radium, if he desires safety, must wear gloves lined with lead, and if he would avoid injury to his eyes he will wear spectacles of glass containing lead salts. Even armed with cumbersome lead-lined gloves, radium salts must be touched only with pincers and must be handled only upon wooden tables lined with lead, so that the rays will not penetrate the wood and attack the legs of the operator. Experts already have devised a special metallic cage in which the radium operator can work with assurance of freedom from being electrocuted. They are now working to perfect a metallic plastron to protect the heart and lungs of the operator, to say nothing of metallic sheets in which the whole body may be wrapped."

If there is anyone around who feels especially gifted with brilliant ideas, the railroad managers would be mighty glad to have a few suggestions on how to keep their business going on a wartime basis while everything else is getting back to normal.

If the railroads are wasting as much as the labor unions say they are, and if wages are as high as the railway magnates declare, think how low freight rates might be if waste and wages were reduced.

The chief stumbling block in the way of safe readjustment is the fact that everybody is trying to force everything down except his own income.

It is announced that Russia has bought 600,000 pairs of shoes in the United States. Evidently Russia is a long way from being broke.

YOUTHS ATTEMPT TO ROB STORE

(By International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore., May 20.—Fede Dorgoff, 16, of 2557 East Fifteenth street, Oakland, and Birdsall, 17, of 921 Jackson street, San Francisco, were arrested here early this morning in the act of robbing a jewelry store.

The boys had gained entrance to the store by cutting an opening in the skylight and were in the act of battering down the door of the safe when police caught them.

The youths, who also admitted robbing a drug store here three days ago, were turned over to the juvenile court.

One judges by its beginning that this era of everlasting peace will not be without its elements of pep.

STATE TROOPS HAVE BEEN ORDERED OUT

(By International News Service)
WILLIAMSON, W. Va., May 20.—Although renewal of fighting along the Tug river was expected today, but one small outbreak has been reported. Several hundred shots were fired at Rawl but there were no casualties. Elsewhere in the troubled area things were quiet. Platoons of state troops have been sent out for guard duty at Borderland, Chattahoochee, Leckieview, Merriman, Stringtown, Sprigg, Alburn, McCarr and Blackberry City. Five hundred citizens have responded to a call sent out by Sheriff A. C. Pinson and have been armed for duty if needed.

As man becomes more civilized, he does less stealing. That is to say, he makes better padlocks.

WITHOUT AID OF MACHINERY

Laborious Methods of Getting "Flow" of Oil From the Rich Wells of Mandalay.

Oil lands above Mandalay are so rich and the oil so close to the surface that you see here and there among the scaffolding forest of steaming, drilling derricks a hole, hand dug and yawning, and at its mouth a breast-high cross-pole carrying a creaking wooden wheel. A long rope attached to a cumbersome bucket plays over this wheel as four or five coolie women "haul away" over a foot-hardened path fifty yards long. Back and forth, in and away, they trudge in the baking Burman sunshine; up and down goes the oil bucket; and, by degrees, fuller and fuller get the big round earthen pots beside the well that holds the day's "flow."

These wells are dug by suspended coolies, who loosen and pass up the debris fifty, eighty, a hundred feet from the soft sandstone earth and shale. It goes on, antlike, with incredible labor for almost a microscopic wage. Many of them, however, like the pitcher of Philamon and Baucis, year after year, produce the rich black liquid, the heritage of the family who owned the spot. Compare these methods, time-honored but time outworn, with those of California and Texas oil fields, where machinery takes care of every minute process, and muscle has more joyful tasks to do.—Christian Science Monitor.

SHOOT WATER HIGH IN AIR

Iceland Geysers Beautiful, but Unsafe Places in Which to Linger for Long Periods.

The hot-water fountains of Iceland are on mounds averaging seven feet in height, the top of each of which forms the edge of a sort of basin. From these basins the steam of boiling water can be seen rising and the overflow of water is continuous. The contents of these basins is as clear as crystal and one can see to a great depth, while just below the surface are many wonderfully beautiful white incrustations to obtain samples of which many a visitor to Iceland has burned his fingers. The petrifications caused by the boiling water streams from the geysers include birch and willow leaves, grass and rushes seemingly converted into marble.

At no time is it entirely safe to loiter in the vicinity of one of these bottomless basins, for the geyser has a way of spouting and gives no advance warning. Sometimes there will be a shoot of boiling water to a height of 15 feet, followed by a succession of jets. The highest shoot of which there is any record was 90 feet.

Occasionally a basin will for some unexplained reason become empty or will give forth a "steam shoot," which, in the form of a column of spray and vapor at least 60 feet in height, presents a really magnificent spectacle.

To Prevent Steel Rusting.

Steel which has become rusty can be cleaned by brushing it with a paste composed as follows: Half an ounce of cyanide of potassium, half an ounce of caustic soap, an ounce of whiting and water sufficient to form the paste. The steel should be washed after the paste has been applied, in a solution of half an ounce of cyanide of potassium in two ounces of water. On the other hand rust may be prevented on steel parts by applying the following mixture with a brush, just as if it were varnish: One part caoutchouc, 16 parts turpentine. These ingredients must be dissolved in a gentle heat and then eight parts of boiled oil should be added. The whole is now mixed by bringing them to boiling heat. This material may be removed by the use of turpentine.

Variation in Flower Colors.

Variations in flowers are like variations in music, often beautiful as such, but almost always inferior, to the theme on which they are founded—the original air. And the rule holds good in beds of flowers, if they be not very large, or in any other small assemblage of them. Nay the largest bed will look well, if of one beautiful color, while the most beautiful varieties may be inharmoniously mixed up. Contrast is a good thing, but we must observe the laws of harmonious contrast, and unless we have space enough to secure these, it is better to be content with unity and simplicity, which are always to be had.—Leigh Hunt.

No Race Suicide Here.

Under the microscope the bacteria found in peat are seen to be animals of the lowest form, which reproduce themselves by splitting into two parts. Under favorable conditions two bacteria grow from one every forty minutes. Those who wish to carry out the mathematical progression will find that a single bacteria will have increased to about 165,000,000,000,000 in 24 hours. Of course many billions of them die in that time, or they would soon overrun the planet and crowd off every other form of life.

Dubious Prospect.

"I saw Dubson dining with his fiancée last evening."
"Did he look happy?"
"Not exactly. Her mother and three older sisters were present. He looked to me like a young man who was wondering if that was just an isolated instance or was liable to become a fixed habit."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

TRUE GOLD LADY

By MOLLIE MATHER.

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

No one would have accused John Towers of harboring romantic dreams, yet, half-unconsciously, at the back of his well ordered bachelor life was kept a faintly colored picture of a glorified being who should one day become his wife—one day, for the attainment seemed ever farther off. John's measure of success in business had not fulfilled boyish promise, though the village bank had grown to, really through his tireless and systematic effort.

The bank had been but part of a store when John began as its ambitious cashier. Now he was president and owner and the small white-pillared building, the finest on Main street, John Towers' home was also capably managed, with meals always just on time, and regular cleaning and baking days never varied.

His elderly sister followed John's ways of prudence and matter-of-factness. And if she had visioned for her brother a wife it was some sensible and efficient creature who would continue sufficiently the daily routine. Could she have seen her brother's dream picture she would have been astonished and alarmed. As resident young women and visitors coming from far and near failed as time passed to arouse John's serious interest, his sister settled down assured of her continued comfortable reign. And then John saw the White and Gold lady. That is the name his heart instantly gave her as he walked idly one Sunday morning to the farthest end of the lane, "Lovers Lane," the young folk called it, but until John came walking back again later by the White and Gold lady's side he had never appreciated the meaning of the name. She was sitting on a bench built round the old park tree when he first found her. Her dress was white and her hair was gold and she held some marigolds in her white fingers.

"If you please," asked the White and Gold lady, with a smile that was golden too, "could you tell me the way to Willow Lawn house? I'm a visitor there and started for the woods and I can't get back; the turns are so very confusing."

John Towers drew a happy breath of anticipation.

"I will be delighted to show you the way," he offered, and that was the beginning of the end. A small-town banker seemed not a desirable husband to the father of the White and Gold lady. And he told her so with an emphasis which hurried her into marriage. For Lily had to make her choice between father and lover and she made it inevitably, trustfully—while the old capitalist withdrew in injured pride to his great home.

So for a time did routine and order. But Lily, the dainty, bent to cook and menu, with the same intensity that had carried her through music and study; and if household tasks were not always accomplished, John Towers, coming broodingly from his bank, found awaiting him deliciously cooked meals that tempted his flagging appetite.

Things were not going well with the bank on the village street and John wondered and wondered—about the White and Gold lady.

Then the bank failed. The circumstances were unforeseen and unavoidable, yet he blamed himself. And when he could no longer bear the pathos of Lily's patient face, he bade her go away some place for a visit.

Obediently his wife went. If he had expected her to demur he did not show his disappointment. It was an old school friend that Lily selected to visit in her old college city.

The friend had been inviting her for a long time. And when John found that he could no longer bear the haunting loneliness of his own desolate home he took of the small savings which could ill be spared for even that purpose and traveled the miles to see Lily. She was more the White and Gold lady than ever in a filmy white frock at a tea her hostess was giving.

The yellow-shaded candles shone on her yellow-gold hair. He sighed hopelessly at the difference between their present lives. "I will go back," he told her huskily, "to my failures. The pity of it is that I should ever have brought you to share them." Lily drew him aside.

"Dearest," she said, "you are not going home to failure; and when I have finished here what I am doing, then I will come back to you—forever. An idea of how to help you occurred to me as I journeyed and I have been putting that idea into practice. You see the charming arrangements of this tea Helen is giving? Well, I am responsible for it all, and I have managed dozens for friends who used to be with me at college. The orders and the money just grew! And it was not charity, John, for my charges were the same as those paid to former caterers. But now my work is almost done. When father heard of my plan, and its success, he wrote hastily, sympathetically. And when you return home I think that you will find him there ready to help in the rebuilding of your business. This time it will be on a sure basis, John; this time you will grow to success."

And as John Towers bent reverently to the radiant face of his wife he said softly:

"Oh! My pure white—my true gold lady!"

TURKS MURDER TWO AGED BISHOPS OF ARMENIA

Unimaginable Cruelties Laid at Door of Turks by a Papal Investigator

By EDWARD C. STRUTT
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
ROME, May 20.—Turkish prosecution of the Armenians continues on an appalling scale, with unimaginable cruelties, according to Monsignor John Naslian, who is reporting the facts to the pope.

It is understood that the holy father, after receiving Monsignor Naslian's report, will address a very energetic appeal to the allied powers and to the government of the United States imploring them to save the Armenian nation from extinction.

Monsignor Naslian, who has miraculously escaped from the persecutions of the Turks, has arrived at Naples on a pilgrimage to the celebrated shrine of Our Lady of Pompeii, and is to travel to Rome shortly.

Interview immediately after he landed, Monsignor Naslian, a venerable white-bearded prelate, frail and still suffering from the effects of his ordeal, gave some tragic details of the methods by which the Turks are systematically attempting to wipe the unhappy Armenians off the face of the earth.

He describes almost unbelievable instances of Ottoman cruelty. At Khodreiner a number of women, including quite young girls, were led to the edge of the precipice overhanging a roaring torrent and told that they must renounce their religion or be pushed off the cliff. One after the other, after a short prayer, the women proclaiming aloud the name of Christ, hurled themselves bravely to a horrible death. Many hundreds were thus sacrificed in a few minutes.

Twenty-eight sisters suffered martyrdom at Trebizond. One of the victims was left for many hours dying in the street, and no one was allowed to help or comfort her. A very handsome young nun who had excited the bestial admiration of her persecutors, defended herself strenuously and finally had her face battered into a bleeding pulp with heavy stones. Six sisters of Marsivan, sentenced to perpetual exile, were murdered in cold blood as soon as they passed the gates of the town, and 15 sisters deported from Trebizond, after months of ill-treatment, were cut to pieces with axes in the mountain passes of Karpuz.

Torture Little Children
Little boys and girls, even babies, have been horribly tortured and crippled, their martyrdom lasting long hours for the delectation of the Turkish fiends. The Armenian priests were especially singled out for cruel and lingering deaths; among the victims are Fathers Anthony Saraidarian, Joseph Bartuni, Leontius Ninassian, Vartan Bachegion. The latter was murdered in the desert of Der-el-zar by the Turkish governor himself.

Monsignor Kaciadurion, the aged Bishop of Malatia, was forced to crawl on his hands and feet with a heavy packsaddle on his back and beaten unmercifully with sticks because he refused to imitate the braying of a donkey. When he collapsed the Turks lit a fire on his prostrate body and warmed their coffee.

Monsignor Andrew Celebian, Bishop of Diarbekir, aged 70, was buried alive, only his head protruding, at which the Turks amused themselves by flinging stones until the silvery head was a mass of blood and shattered bone.

CHINA IS LAND OF GOOD OPPORTUNITIES
(By International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore., May 20.—"Go to China, young man."

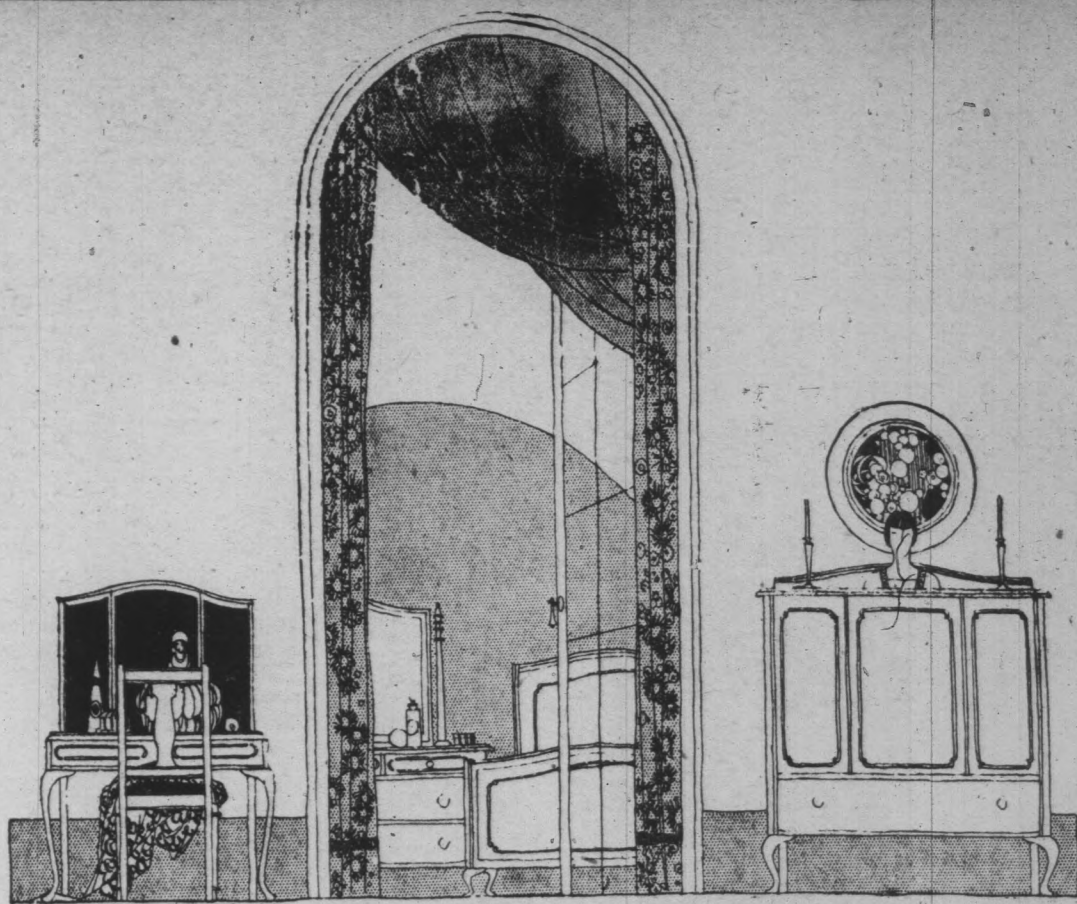

This, in effect, is the advice of Robert A. Ritchie, representative of the Canadian Steel corporation, who has returned from a three years' business tour in the Orient.

"China offers more opportunities for a live young man than any other country I know of," he said. "There are countless numbers of commodities now scarcely known in the Far East that will in time offer themselves as the basis of profitable trade. The possibilities of China have not been scratched and I predict that not in our lifetime will we see the country developed even to a small fraction of its producing capabilities."

Ritchie told of the horror of the famine among the natives of the interior and stated it was far worse than anyone who had not seen it could imagine.

The story that Berlin is getting back to normal probably means that pedestrians are again jumping to the gutter as officers go by.

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

Latest Notes in Fashions

Black satin quilted coats are already quite passe, their too great vogue having been the principal cause of their downfall.

Something decidedly interesting in the way of a dinner gown is the imported model of black mat Canton crepe trimmed with several vertical ruffles of narrow cream Valenciennes.

Very smart the summer taffeta cape made in two or three tiers, quite shorter in front than in the back and lined with a brightly-colored crepe de chine.

Flutings of the material trim many Canton crepe frocks.

Some of the imported dresses boast widely flaring skirts—the fullness being placed almost together on the sides, while the back and front remain quite flat.

Wide sleeves are most often trimmed with solid rows of narrow silk fringe extending from the shoulder way down to the wrist. Braid occupies also quite a prominent place among the spring trimmings.

The costumes consisting of a frock and matching cape are seen in every imported collection. Serge combined with taffeta or foulard seems the favorite combination.

Mank girdles are tied at each side of the waist, thus giving a flaring line from the hip to the knee.

Several laces are often combined successfully in the making of a creation.

It is impossible to imagine the old-fashioned stays or boned corset with the soft outlines of the modern dress. A woman in the clothes of today has a freedom that never was enjoyed to such an extent in dress. The article which now serves in lieu of a corset is very much on the order of the waists worn by young schoolgirls. Even the old time steel hooks that fastened the fronts are gone. Of two types of modern corsets one is of white tricot and fastens with buttons and buttonholes. The other corset has no fastening and is made entirely of wide elastic. It is known as a "step-in" corset. Certain reducing qualities are claimed for it.

A charming novelty is the Canton crepe suit. Very chic is the one made of gray Canton, lined with jade green satin. This model shows decidedly the Chinese influence. The coat is embroidered in the back with silver thread. The wide sleeves are also trimmed with this beautiful embroidery, while the front of the coat remains perfectly plain. Typically Chinese.

GRAVE AND GAY

COMMUTER'S COURAGE

It was pretty late for Suburbanite Jones to be getting home. Walking up the street from the station he heard footsteps following him. He increased his speed, and the strange steps quickened their pace also. He took a slower pace and the steps behind him slackened.

This was no time for showing agitation. Jones felt he must not reveal his terror by looking back.

He turned quickly down a side street. The footsteps followed. He dodged into an alley; but was still pursued. In desperation he jumped a wall, ran up a little slope, and into a churchyard where he crouched panting in the darkness on a grave.

The man behind still followed. Quivering with fear of "crime wave" atrocities, Jones waited his pursuer.

"W-what do you want?" he asked.

"Say," exclaimed the stranger, moping his brow, "do you always go home this way? I'm going up to Mr. Brown's and the man at the station told me to follow you, as you lived next door. Excuse my asking you, but have we much more of this to go through before we get there?"

There are 435 members of the house of representatives and 96 members in Sixty-Seventh congress.

IN ARMS AGAINST NATURE

There are 7,000,000 hunters in the United States, according to the chief United States game warden of the biological survey.

In 1919, 3600 state hunting licenses were issued, and in addition it is estimated that 3,500,000 hunters are exempted under various state provisions. The return to the states from licenses was approximately $4,500,000, all of which was expended by the states in administration of state laws for the protection of game. This sum permits the employment of approximately 2000 salaried state game wardens and 600 fee wardens. The congressional appropriation for federal game-warden service for protection of migratory birds is $142,500, which permits the employment of only 29 salaried wardens.

TOO STRONG FOR HIM

"What has happened to the poor man?" asked the agitated lady, rushing up to where a disheveled traveling man lay sprawled amid the wreck of his suitcase.

"He was running for the car," explained an interested youngster standing by.

"And didn't he catch it?"

"Oh, yes, he caught it, all right—but it got away again!"

START ON FISH & TARR BUILDING

The ground has been broken for the foundation of the Fish & Tarr building on East Broadway adjoining the W. B. Kirk property. It will be a one-story affair with tile walls and fancy tile front. The rear will be a garage and the front an office and salesroom. They expect it to be ready for occupancy in July. A $5000 permit has just been secured at the City Hall, the builders being Fred Tarr and E. Elliott.

U. S. SOLDIERS STAGE CIRCUS IN COBLENZ

(By International News Service) COBLENZ, May 20.—German residents of the Rhine saw the first chariot race since the days when the big circuses used to visit this part of Germany, when the second battalion, eighth infantry, of the American army of occupation, staged a "sweepstakes" in the village of Mogendorf. Yankee soldiers borrowed a dozen of the old-fashioned chariot-like carts in use in this section and put on a regular Ben Hur thriller.

GLENDALÉ K. OF P. HOLD GOOD MEETING

Noted Visitors From Oregon and Ohio Address Lodge on Matters of Interest

Chancellor Commander Emil E. Framm presided over the ceremonial held on the regular-meeting night this week. There was a good attendance of members and visitors among whom was noted Knights Jones Wilson, Bartlett and Palmer, who ably assisted in the impressive ceremonies of the Knight Rank and who also afterwards addressed the lodge upon subjects of unusual interest to Pythians.

This lodge has become so noted for its hospitality that visitors come from every direction and on this occasion the states of Oregon and Ohio were represented as well as the city of Los Angeles.

According to the schedule another big Knight Rank ceremonial will be put on at the next meeting.

All of the many Pythians living in Glendale are urged to note that it is important that they get in touch with this lodge.

On Thursday night our usual delegation of Glendale boosters went to Van Nuys Lodge for a fraternal visit and all report having had a delightful time.

All resident K. P.'s are expected to make Sunday, June 5, 2 p. m., their previous engagement in order that they may participate in the Annual Memorial Services at the Forest Lawn Memorial park.
